EDMUND H. MOORE

OHIOANS SELECT COMMITTEEMAN

E. H. Moore Wins Out in Delegation Election

NEW YORK — (By Associated Press) — Edmund H. Moore of Youngstown, pre-convention manager for James M. Cox in 1920, was elected national committeeman by the Ohio delegation to the Democratic national convention Monday night, it was announced. It is also possible that many persons who are either for or against the nomination will be present at the meeting and voice their desires.

TO PROTEST.

Dr. J. B. Vail, chairman of the committee which will file the doctors' protest with the commission, speaking for the society, said that no other location has been considered by the doctors.

Three ballots were taken before the selection was made. Moore, who is strong anti-prohibitionist and has opposed Governor Dona-hey, led on the first two ballots but did not receive a majority until the third.

The caucus voted unanimously to instruct Newton D. Baker, the state's member of the resolutions committee to fight for insertion of Moore's anti-Ku Klux Klan plank in the party platform.

Moore in an address to the delegates declared that if the Democratic party did not destroy the Klan it would be destroyed by the Klan, and charged that the Klan was back of William G. McAdoo and responsible for "Mr. McAdoo's present strength."

Commissioner J. J. Rankin, who cast the only dissenting vote in the matter of choosing the present site, has announced his intention to resort to legal action in case the majority of the commission refuses to reconsider.

He would not say just what form his action would take, but stated that probably the only thing that could be done would be to enjoin the city from erecting the hospital on any site which has such an insanitary environment as that on Collett-st.

Commissioner Harold Cunningham stated that in case the commission should accede to Rankin's demand to reconsider, and put the selection up to the people in the August primary, another riot would result and factions from each quarter of the city would be at each other's throats. He is opposed to any reconsideration whatever.

The first ballot for national committeeman gave Moore eighteen,
W. W. Durbin, state chairman, 17½; George White, former national chairman, 5½; and W. A.
Julian, one time candidate for United States senator, seven votes.

The second ballot resulted:
Moore 20½; Durbin 16½; White 3½; and Julian 7½.

The final ballot showed Moore 20½; Durbin 13½; White one and Julian eight and a half.

Mrs. Bernice Pyke was chosen as the committee-woman; former Governor James E. Campbell, delegation chairman, and former Senator Atlee Pomerene, rules committee.

ROTARIANS HEAR MISS MARGUERITE ZENDER

Lima Rotarians were entertained at their weekly luncheon Monday noon at the Norval hotel by Miss Marguerite Zender, soprano, a Lima girl who has established quite a name for herself in the world of opera.

Miss Zender sang a number of selections including "La Boheme" and "Pirate Dreams". The club gave her a rising vote of thanks following the recital.

The club received an invitation from Lima Boy Scouts to hold a dinner at their camp near Celina on Monday night, July 7, instead of the Monday luncheon meeting. The offer was tentatively accepted.

COMMISSION TO RECEIVE PETITIONS

Allen-co Medics to Protest on Hospital Site

MEMBERS AWAII ACTION

New Location Must be Presented They Announce

If protests by citizens, doctors or other interested persons are to be successful in causing the city commission to reconsider its selection of the Collett-st site for the new $600,000 city hospital they will have to contain definite propositions regarding the site that will be satisfactory, it was announced by Commissioners Earl Rohr and Harold Cunningham.

No action will be taken by the city commission Monday night toward the reconsideration of the hospital site unless those opposing the selection by the commission will have a site to propose that will be satisfactory to the majority of citizens, be available for purchase at a reasonable price and be well located in every way, it was indicated by the two members of the commission.

Remonstrances prepared by a special committee of the Allen-co Academy of Medicine will be presented to the commission Monday night, it was announced. It is also possible that many persons who are either for or against

SHOES FRET McADOO GIRL

Al Smith's Daughter
Owns Different
Temperament

BY DOROTHY SHUMATE
NEW YORK — (By United Press) — It's one thing to come to a political convention to see your father nominated—but it's another story when you lose your shoes doing it.

That's just what happened to Sally McAdoo, young daughter of William Gibbs McAdoo.

Of course she's interested in father—"but sure do want my shoes," Sailey interspersed such remarks as "yes, I'm just crazy about politics," with "Where, oh, where, are my shoes?"

"I came down to see father nominated, but have you seen my black suede shoes?"

Sally McAdoo, slim, dark-eyed and lovely, gowned in a henncrepe de chine, made on straight lines and medium brimmed white braid hat, sat with her feet tucked under—and paged her slippers all evening.

She had just arrived from Brynn Mawr, where she had been for two years. She was thrilled with the McAdoo headquarters and the stories of the nomination. Her friends say she is a born politician. She is a leader in all school activities. She loves to make speeches—she's thrilled with the limelight—but she wants her black suede slippers.

She has evidently interested in talk about her growing to be a politician and she snailed at suggestions about her running for office.

"Mayoe some day," she said,
"when women voters are powers and fathers are only background."

Another member of the McAdoo family will arrive today to see the candidate nominated. She is Aunt Juila, old mammy nurse of William G. McAdoo, from Georgia.

The Georgia delegation which arrived in the Hotel Vanderbilt today brought her along.

Ms. Alfred Smith and her daughter Emily have come down from Albany to see the governor nominated for the presidency.

Last night at the Newspaper Women's Club, Mrs. Smith and Emily expressed confidence in the nomination of the idol of New York.

Mrs. Smith a large motherly woman was gowned in a black and white foulard, veiled in black georgette. Her hat was of black woven straw with plain white crepe trimmings.

In striking contrast to Sally McAdoo is Emily Smith. Slim and young too, she is quiet, blonde and hooded hair. She was dressed in black satin softened at the neck and wrists with white organdie. And to questions regarding politics, she pleased with only a sweet smile.

FLIER FIGHTS WAY THRU STORM, FOG

Maughan Again on Flight from Coast to Coast

DELAYED HOUR AT DAYTON

Third Attempt at Dawn to Dusk Trip

ST. JOSEPH, Mo.—(By Associated Press) — In fine spirits and with his plane in good condition after flying 1,140 miles since 3 o'clock this morning, eastern time, Lieutenant Russell L.
Maughan in a Curtiss pursuit plane landed at Rosedale flying field, south of St. Joseph, at 10:52 o'clock, central time, this morning.

Maughan was flying low as he approached the field from the northwest. He waved to his machines to wave flags to direct him to a dry section of the field.

He twice circled the field and then gracefully glided down to a dry spot on the north end.

Maughan landed in St. Joseph 32 minutes earlier than he did in his last attempt July 19, 1923,
when his plane went as far as Rock Springs, Wyo. He was taken to the hungry where he asked for cold chicken and a glass of milk.

his last attempt July 19, 1923,
when his plane went as far as Rock Springs, Wyo. He was taken to the hungry where he asked for cold chicken and a glass of milk.

Maughan covered the first lap of his journey, New York to Dayton, 575 miles, in four hours and seventeen minutes, slightly better than the schedule he had planned.

Progress of the flight was delayed one hour and 11 minutes for repairs to a gasoline line.

Mechanics at McCook Field allowed place wheels with large tires on the ship.

It was found necessary to rip the covering off part of the spae-lage to get at the gasoline line.

While this was going on Maughan paced restlessly back and forth, but never once urged the mechanics to greater speed.

Lieutenant Harold R. Harris, chief test pilot of McCook Field, who supervised the work of the mechanics, said if the weakened connection had not been discovered at McCook Field, it would have caused the termination of the flight.

TELLS OF TRIP

"It certainly would have let go somewhere else along the route and none of the other scheduled stops are equipped with materials to make such fittings," Harris said.

Just before hopping off, Lieutenant Maughan expressed his confidence in the result of the flight.

"It was a terrible rough 50 age down from New York," Maughan. "There was a dense fog over upper New York and just east of Pittsburgh I ran into a severe rain and wind storm.

"The faster I went thru it, the more the ship bobbed up and down. This irregular movement of the ship was so bad it nearly made me seasick," he said.

Once past Pittsburgh the flying was ideal, the flier said.

It was a startled crew that greeted him on his arrival at Dayton.

AIR RECORDS SMASHED

Honors Are Won by American Navy Flyers

NEW ENDURANCE MARK SET

Former Speed and Distance Figures Overtopped

WASHINGTON — (By Associated Press) — Four world records for seaplanes, including the endurance and distance records, were broken and one world record established by Lieutenant F. W. Wead and J. D. Price in a flight which ended early today when their naval craft was forced down by engine trouble.

The navy fliers, who took the air from the Aracosta naval air station here at 12:10 p.m. yesterday in a new type of scouting, bombing and torpedo plane, made a sustained flight of 13 hours and 23 minutes and covered a distance of 1,530 kilometers. The present recognized endurance record is 11 hours and 16 minutes and the distance record 1,275 kilometers.

SPEED RECORD.

In addition the flight smashed the speed record for both the 500 and 1,000 kilometer distances with an average of 73.41 miles an hour, against the record of 71.98 miles for the first and 74.27 miles, against the record of 70.49 miles for the second.

For the 1,500 kilometer distance a record of 74.17 miles an hour was set up.

All of the marks were confirmed by officials of the National Aeronautic society and will undoubtedly be recognized as new records by the international society.

Hopes of the two airmen to stretch their new endurance record to 24 hours were defeated by a breakdown of the gasoline pump on their 585 horsepower motor. They made an easy forced landing on the far leg of a 25 kilometer triangular course over which they were piloting the new craft in a test of its long distance scouting design.

LEPER HOSPITAL CURES 300

5,500 Patients Annually Cost Government $500,000

MANILA — (By Associated Press) — The greatest problem now confronting the Philippine health authorities in the Cullon leper colony is to keep the field already won so that the disease may be completely put under control, in the opinion of Dr. Victor G. Heiser, far eastern representative of the Rockefeller Foundation, who has just returned from an inspection of the Cullon colony. Dr. Heiser at one time was director of health of the Philippines.

"This work can be done by continuing annual appropriations from the legislature to carry on the task so well started," said Dr. Heiser. "The greatest danger is that some day the taxpayers may get tired of supporting the colony and drop it altogether. All the ground so far covered in the fight against the disease would be lost should the appropriations for support of the colony and the treatment of the lepers be cut off."

"The government spends annually about $500,000 for leprosy work in the Philippines, the per capita cost being about 25 cents to the people of the islands. There are now 5,500 leper patients in Cullon, and approximately 300 are cured every year under the new treatments. Of the newly arrived patients in Cullon, 20 percent recover and this proportion may be raised to 90 percent should the present treatment be continued. The new treatments, the ethylester, the Mercuro and Indian treatment, are employed according to each individual case."

HOOF, MOUTH DISEASE GERM REPORTED FOUND BY GERMAN SCIENTIST

BERLIN — Bacteriologists throughout Europe have been interested in the recent announcement here of the discovery of a bacillus capable of reproducing the hoof and mouth disease in animals. Specialists have come to Berlin to investigate further, while there have been many letters and cables from the United States and England, where there have been epidemics this spring. News of the discovery came from Professor Paul Frosch, of the Royal Veterinary College, who has been working on the work in several years in conjunction with Professor Dahmer.

The new bacillus has not yet been subjected to sufficient confirmatory tests to make it possible to say positively that it is the final solution of the difficulty, but medical journals in Germany and England have written enthusiastic articles about it, and various authorities have ventured to predict that this enthusiasm has not been misplaced.

According to writers on veterinary subjects in these periodicals, the hoof and mouth disease is supposed to have been a European malady for more than 2,000 years, that it was not until the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries that positive proof of its presence was found.

PIGEON FLIGHT.
LONDON — Four Labor members of Parliament have obtained permission to organize a pigeon flight from the House of Commons yard on July 26. A small large cup will be given to the winners for a year. The destination of the flight will be in turn at various centers the four constituents these members represent.

YOUNG MAN DROWNS.

CANTON — Earl Kibler, 21, of Alliance, was drowned while swimming in the lake park reservoir east of Alliance Sunday afternoon. Kibler was holding to the back of a boat when he was seized with a cramp and went down before assistance could reach him. The body was recovered a short time later. Kibler's home is in Bureau.

MACREADY'S LEAP FOR LIFE

This is the artist's conception of the parachute jump of Lieut. John A. Macready, shuttlecock of air records, near McCook Field, Dayton, O. The army ace was forced to make the leap when his engine "died" while he was returning from a flight to Columbus, O. He cut loose while 1,500 feet above ground. Farmers found him dangling from a limb of a tree and cut him down. The lower picture shows all that was left of his plane.

LIQUOR CASE TO BE REOPENED

Tom Mann May Be Freed Through New Evidence

Reopening of the Tom Mann liquor case, in which a motion for new trial is pending was admitted to a possibility by Eugene T. Lippincott Monday.

Mann, who claims to be a Mexican Indian was arrested at his home 146 W. Fourth-st., by county and state officers. Two pints of whisky wrapped in a newspaper were found in his automobile. Officers were conducting a raid on Louis Valls' pool room next door at the time.

Lippincott admitted Monday he was investigating Mann's case, and had found some new facts that were in his favor. He declined to state the nature of the information, but hinted that it might concern enemies of Mann, said to reside in the neighborhood.

Testimony in the case disclosed that just prior to Mann's arrest an unidentified man walked thru the yard, passing by the automobile.

The man may have been the one who left the two gallons of whisky who left at Valls' back door.

Mann's case and that of Mary Winslow, 18, Lithuanian girl, 148 W. Third-st. are to come up on motion for new trial in probate court soon, Lippincott declared.

The girl was apprehended in the act of carrying a tea kettle filled with whisky to Valls' place.

She said a man whom she had never seen before promised her $5 to deliver the kettle and contents.

DIVERTED CANAL SHOWS CHINESE BURIAL GROUND OF FIVE CENTURIES AGO

SI CHIEN, China — Discovery of about a dozen coffins in the bed of the Grand Canal, whose course near here lately was diverted, has stirred the interest of scholars and has given rise to the belief that the famous waterway in the days of the Ming dynasty, when the coffins were buried, ran east of its present bed.

It was with the announced purpose of deepening the waterway and of recovering rich soil at the same time, that a dam was built last February across the stream just north of Si Chien city.

The water was turned into an old dry river bed leading toward Hainan and the canal was diverted. In digging near here the coffins were brought to light.

Those contained the bodies of the Liang family, Liang himself and his two wives, who had been buried between 400 and 500 years ago. Inscriptions on a stone at the mouth of the Liang's grave said that he had died in the twelfth year of Duke Dei of the Ming dynasty at about 1,314 A.D.

It is accepted that it was by an unexpected chance that the royal testing places of persons of Liang's rank could come to be under the waters of the Grand Canal, and therefore it is believed that a century or so after those intervals the course of the stream was changed into the channel it has followed in recent generations.

4 LIVES LOST IN STORM

Building Damaged, Planes Are Wrecked by High Wind

MANY PERSONS INJURED

Pollution of Chicago's Water Supply is Feared

CHICAGO — (By Associated Press) — One of the worst summer storms in years swept almost the entire upper Mississippi river valley late yesterday, taking at least four lives and doing hundreds of thousands of dollars property damage.

Nebraska, South Dakota, Minnesota and Illinois were hit by the high winds and hard rains. Three persons were killed in Chicago and one in Minnesota.

Possibly the most serious menace to Chicago followed the storm in threatened pollution of the drinking water supply. The storm reversed the Calumet river and caused sewage to be poured into Lake Michigan.

The steamer Saugatuck was disabled far out in the lake with 700 passengers aboard, but rode out the storm with rescue craft brought along by S. O. S. calls. A number of sailing yachts were caught off shore and a half dozen were forced to run before the gale with bare poles.

PLANES WRECKED

Six government air mail planes were wrecked at Omaha, Neb., when the roof was blown off their hangar and the walls caved in. Air mail service from Omaha would not be hampered, officials said, altho additional planes would have to be rushed from Chicago.

Southwestern Minnesota seemed to bear the brunt of the storm in that state. One man was killed near Tracy, where which hundreds of farms were hard hit.

The storm caught a foursome at the Olympic Fields Country Club here killing a caddy and injuring another caddy and three players. A city fireman was killed by lightning and a janitor attempting to close a window fell eleven floors to his death.

Want to buy a good beer truck? Sheriff Crosson will auction one off at 1:30 p.m. Thursday at the court house garage. When seized here the truck was loaded with keys and bottles of beer.

The beer has been poured down a sewer in the jail basement, but the truck remains and it will be sold Thursday subject to a mortgage held by the Commercial Credit Co. of Baltimore. Cost of sale will be subtracted, then the mortgage will come out of the sale price, and all remaining will accrue to the county.

The truck was captured when drunk beer runners, south bound, wrecked it at the Northern Ohio R.R. crossing on the Dixie highway in Bluffton last fall.

All bids will be for cash. Most prospective purchasers say they would pay more if the right kind of a cargo went with the truck.

Charges against H. G. McGrady, 544 S. Main-st., Lima, in connection with the $1,200 robbery of Charles Hermon, aged Wren Farmer, at his home near Van Wert, have been withdrawn in Justice Gilpin's office at Van Wert, it was announced Monday morning.

Lack of evidence to associate McGrady with the crime was voiced in dismissing the case after the defense had given the names of 27 witnesses to summon, who were willing to testify that McGrady was in Lima at the time the robbery was committed on June 14.

RULES BATTLE

Veterans among the Democratic hosts refuse to get excited over the agitation for abrogation of the virtually century old two-thirds rule.

Party historians point out that the rule by which Democratic nomination only is made by a two-thirds vote of the convention, has been a subject of discussion in almost every national convention since its original adoption and that repeated efforts to change it have been without success.

It was adopted first in 1832, but applied only to the nomination of a vice president as Andrew Jackson had no opposition for the presidential nomination.

This rule was extended to apply to the presidential nomination in the next convention in 1848, when it came up for re-adoption an arrangement was made whereby it could be changed at any time during the convention by a majority vote.

The conference was called for July 23, and will meet in the state house of representatives.

To the conference the governor invited representatives of all steam and electric railroads, automobile clubs, good roads organizations and county and municipal officers.

Attorney General Crabbe, Highway Director Boulay and members of the utilities commission will be in attendance.

DUKE OF BRUNSWICK MAY RETURN FROM HIS EXILE TO REGAIN VAST ESTATE

BRUNSWICK, Germany — Ernest August, Duke of Brunswick-Lueneburg and son-in-law of the ex-Kaiser, who has been living in Gmünd since the revolution waiting for better days, is reported to intend to return to Brunswick and take up his abode in Blankenburg Castle.

This announcement gives evidence of the fact that the province of Brunswick is about to arrange for a final settlement of the problem of disposing of the property of the former reigning house.

Like the Hohenzollers in Prussia, the Brunswick grand-ducal family has been engaged in a lawsuit with the state government.

The litigation is so involved and is costing the state so much money, that a bill has been introduced in the provincial assembly by which the whole problem is to be settled by compromise.

By the terms of the bill, the government renounces all claims to the estates formerly belonging to the grand ducal hunting estates, certain estates in Hessen, Lichtenberg, and a valuable stud in Harzburg.

INFLUENTIARY PROBE BEGINS

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio — County commissioners, State Examiner-Householder and County Auditor W. C. Mills today were conducting an investigation at the Clark-co infirmary at the request of Governor Donahay relative to conditions alleged to exist there. The governor asked the inquiry after receiving a communication from a resident of the home in which serious charges were made against the management.

CHILD KILLED.

CANTON — Evelyn Mutchler, 12, was killed, and Ruth Swisher, 12, was seriously injured last night when they were struck by an automobile at Newman Creek Chapel, seventeen miles northwest of here. Both girls reside at Bowdill.

Lieutenant Maughan hopes to land in San Francisco in time to have his supper, having breakfasted in New York.

START OF FLIGHT

MITCHEL FIELD, New York — (By Associated Press) — A lone aviator, Lieutenant Russell Maughan, this morning began a race with the sun in the hope of spanning a tenth of the earth's circuit before his path is darkened.

Two unsuccessful attempts in the past year had not dampened his ardor. He took the air in his 275 horsepower single seater plane at one half minute before 3 o'clock eastern standard time.

Some few clouds were in the sky but a half moon lit his way toward and over the Allegheny mountains which he crossed before full daylight. One hundred and fifty spectators watched the departure. Crissey Field at San Francisco lies 2,670 miles west, as the crow flies.

The aviator will go somewhat farther in his jumps between four inland fields where fresh supplies and a few moments rest await him during the flight scheduled to consume sixteen hours and forty minutes, just four hours less than the maximum amount of daylight afforded him.

From his margin of time the four refueling stops may take two hours but he hopes to cut each stop to a third its scheduled time.

Before retiring for a short rest in the evening the lieutenant was jovial and apparently carefree but when he arose and went to the field his face was set.

It may have been memories twice before details have checked him of a victory earned in full measure.

July 9 of last year he set out with the same hopes in the optimism of a first trial. Midway across the country a small motor alignment forced him down. The plane was rushed back and ten days later a second attempt was begun.

This promised success thru hard stage of the journey until at Rock Springs, Wyoming, six hundred miles from his goal an oil leak of no consequence in repairing but vital in the air forced him down. This time those details have been more carefully watched and there is little doubt that he will reach Dayton, Ohio, the first stop. The other stops are St. Joseph, Mo., Cheyenne, Wyo., and Salida, Utah. Each is a mile-stone Maughan is confident he will pass, in spite of reported rain and a bad field at St. Joseph.

Save Your Money!

Taxpayers of Lima, you should realize this: Every one is gravely concerned about our tremendous national debt. And yet, while the national debt averages about $300 for every American man, woman and child, the average debt of cities of 2500 population or over is more than $70 for every resident. Norfolk, Va., has the highest—$28.62 per capita.

Municipalities' total debt already is more than a third as big as the national debt.

What's more alarming, is that cities' debts are increasing a billion dollars a year, while the national debt is going down that much and more—has, for four years.

On top of all this burden, taxpayers have enormous state debts and county debts.

All of which are mounting steadily.

Now, debts means that the future is being mortgaged.

It can be mortgaged just so far—to the point where taxpayers will be unable to pay interest (taxes) on the debt.

Then will come a day of reckoning, fearful for the politicians.

Spending by states, counties and municipalities is for improvements, conduct of government, and for renewing old obligations as they fall due and can't be paid off.

Where should economy begin? It depends on the particular community involved, no two of which have exactly the same situation to face.

One obvious common solution is to pave roads for permanence instead of permitting their construction to be so rotten that it goes to pieces and has to be patched in a matter of months. We have some like that in Allen-co now.

Another suggestion is to get away from the monumental type of public building—a notion inherited from the ancient Greeks and Romans. Uncle Sam, for instance, puts up a postoffice that looks like the Tower of Babel—and inside you'll find about two windows selling stamps while customers stand waiting in line.

A frame building with a dozen stamp windows would be more sensible and economical than display to gratify the vanity of a tax-burdened generation that can't afford it.

It will be a safe procedure for some years to come to vote against only such propositions as are absolutely necessary to life and prosperity. And when you vote for officials, be certain that they will work towards economy rather than reckless waste, as has been the general custom in officials for the last generation.

Are You a Slacker?

Nearly half of the citizens who were entitled to vote in the 1920 presidential election didn't vote at all. For every 100 who voted, 96 stayed away from the polls. This was figured out recently by Simon Michelet, Washington lawyer, who served several years as secretary of the late Senator Knute Nelson of Minnesota.

The same thing will probably happen this year.

Michelet claims that the "stay-at-home vote" could elect or defeat any candidate for president. He's right. That's obvious.

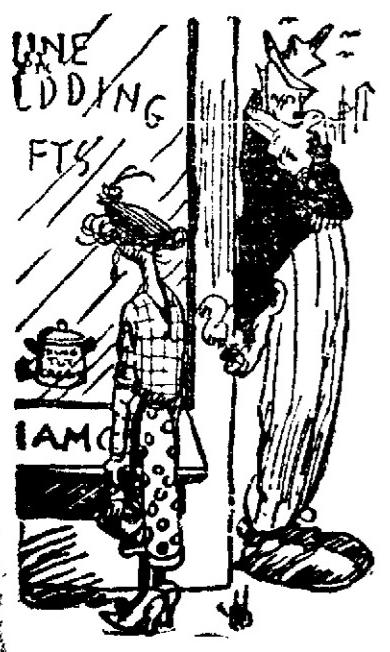

Michelet's analysis showed that over 25 million citizens, eligible to vote in 1920,

THE COLIC QUESTION

The impulse is to start right off in my accustomed way and assert baldly (I've been asserting things that way for ten years now) that there is no such condition as "colic" in babies, but on sober second thought I had better defer that for another ten years, for there are too many old grannies still hanging around and too many old fogies still practicing medicine. Let's compromise by putting the thing rhetorically. If there really such a condition as "colic" in infants? And if anybody assumes there is, how does he arrive at his assumption?

Colic, as I understand it, is an exquisite bellyache associated with or perhaps directly due to "gas" which distends some portion of the alimentary canal.

The younger the infant and the less intelligent the parents, guardians, neighbors, relations, doctors or nurses, the more frequently does this hypothetical "colic" occur. The rashness with which people resort to medicine or dope for infants varies inversely with intelligence. At the present time probably 90 per cent of the demand for alleged "colic cures" comes from the illiterate population, and the other ten per cent from folks who can just read the simplest words in large print.

If I had a baby and the doctor told me he had the colic I'd change doctors. Still, the doctor might be right. Even young babies sometimes have organic disease of a painful character. Anyhow, if the doctor opined the baby had colic I'd say, "Very well, Doctor, your opinion about that is expert; now can you determine what ails the baby?"

To diagnose "colic" in the case of an infant is merely a matter of opinion, not a determinable fact. The opinion of a physician is naturally better than that of

IMPORTANT NOTES
ON CANNING

In making preserves, marmalades, conserves, jams and fruit butters, a larger amount of sugar is used than in canning fruit. The sugar is cooked into the fruit or condensed with the fruit-juice and acts as a natural preservative against yeasts and bacteria. These foods must still be protected from molds, and this is most satisfactorily accomplished by sealing in clean hot jars.

The following estimates may be used as a general guide in determining the amount of food required for canning fruit:

1 bu. peaches	25 qts.
1 bu. pears	30 qts.
1 bu. plums	28 qts.
1 bu. red raspberries	24 qts.
1 bu. cherries	20 qts.
1 bu. tomatoes	18 qts.

PRECIOUS preserves spoiled! Vegetables you had depended on for the whole winter ruined!

Some rubbers blew out, others bulged, a dozen dried up and made the way easy for an army of bacteria to creep in and spoil all your work.

All because your jar rubbers did not do the two important things every jar rubber must do if it is to make a perfect, air-tight seal!

Stretch and "set" are the two things every jar rubber must do. First it must stretch just enough for you to slip it easily over the top of the jar. Too much stretch robs it of the ability to snap back into place—to "set"—the moment it is released.

It is this ability to first stretch and then "set," firmly gripping the neck of the jar, that prevents bulging and blowing out.

"U.S." Jar Rubbers already tested for stretch and "set"

The largest rubber organization in the world—the United States Rubber Company—makes "U.S." Jar Rubbers. From their plantations in Sumatra comes the high grade rubber used in "U.S." Jar Rubbers. In their great laboratories where so many rubber problems have been solved, experts worked out the formula for these safer jar rubbers. Before they leave the factory "U.S." Jar Rubbers are subjected to rigid tests to determine their fitness to resist all the powerful forces which play upon them in actual use.

"U.S." Jar Rubbers come to you already tested for stretch and "set"—tested to give you a permanent seal—a seal which "stays put!" Ask for them.

THRILLING NEW DETECTIVE SERIAL

The Lima News takes pleasure in announcing its next serial story—one from the pen of that master of detective stories, Arthur Somers Roche. You are familiar with “The Gray Ghost” and other works of this interesting writer. When critics declare that the series this newspaper will begin next Thursday is better than anything he has created, you have some idea of what is in store for you. It would be difficult to find a better serial for the present hot season. It is one that will take your thoughts away from the sweltering weather and “pep” you up just when you need it. It’s the kind of reading experts recommend for fagged brains.

Garden flowers were used in profusion in the decorations of the long luncheon table, at which the guests were seated. A large basket was used in the center, while at either end were smaller bowls of the same vari-colored flowers. During the afternoon, seven tables were arranged in the parlors of the hotel for the card games.

Guests, other than the club members, included Mrs. Russell Young, Mrs. Francis Dunbar, Mrs. Frank Kuhle, Mrs. W. H. Duffield, Mrs. C. C. Seals, Mrs. Charles Killen, Mrs. Harry Robinson, Mrs. Roy Banta, Mrs. Leo Christen, Mrs. Ed. L. Kirk, Mrs. Charles Finley, Mrs. Eugene Christen, Mrs. J. Henry Goeke, Mrs. H. M. Crawford, Mrs. Ed. L. Christen, Mrs. Ward Miller, Mrs. J. C. Nagelson, Miss Gertrude Finley and Miss Bernice Sherman of Columbus.

The couple was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Oral Boyd, the former a brother of the bride. The bride wore a dress of pink georgette and a white satin hat, and Mrs. Boyd wore blue and grey canton crepe with a hat to match.

A wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents. Only members of the immediate families were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Boggs will reside with the bride's parents for the present.

Mrs. Royal M. Alderman, who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dresel, Jr., Kenilworth Court, returned Sunday to her home in Cleveland.

SUSIE SMART'S ADVICE

Dear Miss Smart:
I am five feet, two inches tall. How much should I weight? I am 22 years of age.

How long should I wear my dresses? I have brown hair and brown eyes. What colors do I look good in?

What is the meaning of the following names: Evelyn, Gertrude, Sherwood, Rossi, Elvira and Evans?

May I write again?" ANXIOUS."

You should weigh about 120 pounds.

The dresses are being worn very short at this time, some as short as 12 or 14 inches from the floor. However, I think 11 inches might be a good length for you.

Tan and the various shades of brown, grey, coral or rose and orchid would be becoming shades for you.

Evelyn means life, Gertrude means spear-maiden, Sherwood means wise, Rossi means rose, Elvira means white and Evans means gift of God.

Yes, please do.

Dear Miss Smart:
How much should I weight? I am 18 years old, four feet, eleven inches tall.

How late should I stay out at night? What should I do for a rough skin? What is the best oil for me?

Is dancing harmful? TROGONY.

You should weigh 86 pounds.

You should not be out at night at all, unless with your parents or playing with the rest of the children in the neighborhood. You should be home before nine o'clock. Don't think of going to the movies or to shows with the other young people at your age.

Use mild soaps on your skin and do not use powder or rouge. If your skin is inclined to be a little dry, use olive oil on it.

Your writing is good. Dancing is considered good exercise if not done to excess.

Dear Miss Smart:
I am a girl five feet, one inch tall and weigh 120 pounds. How much should I weight? How much weight can I gain in an ash blonde color and have it be green-grey, more green than grey. What colors could I wear best?

I am too much over weight, what shall I do to reduce?

COMPLIES.
You should weigh 108 pounds. The second girl should weigh about 65 pounds.

Wash your face in water in which you have squeezed half a lemon. Another good formula is to wash the face with buttermilk. Wear delicate shades such as light blue, light green, tans, brilliant blues and lavender.

The best and only way to reduce is to stop eating all sweets and starches and to exercise. Swimming, dancing and walking will help to take off a lot of surplus fat.

Dear Miss Smart:
I would like to know how to wax flowers, such as roses, peonies and carnations. A HOUSEWIFE.

Don't have the paraffin too hot, it will kill the flowers.

GOOD MANNERS

Those in charge were Miss Martha Lauchlin, Miss Martha Altshul, Miss Francis Lou Cunningham and Miss Virginia Mosher.

About half a hundred guests attended the affair.

TRICK UMBRELLAS AND FANCY DOG COLLARS ARE LATEST FADS

CHOKER AND HAT BAND TO MATCH, EACH FASHIONED FROM A DOG COLLAR, AND COMBINATION VANITY BOX AND UMBRELLA.

BY MARIAN HALE
A shortage of dog collars threatens

This condition is due, not to a plethora of pups, but of fashionable women who have suddenly discovered how very smart this accessory of Fido's is.

And whereas one dog wears one collar at a time, the smart woman doubles and wears two, so you can see where the poor canine is going to come out in the matter.

The latest sartorial sensation in Paris is the matching choker and band, each formed of a dog collar. The photograph above shows just how effective such a set may be when bordered on each side with a band of white monkey fur over black.

For sports costumes, street frocks, and almost every type of dress except the strictly formal, such an adornment is most desirable. And there is this advantage, the dog collar is much cheaper than silver fox.

Another innovation is the combination vanity box and umbrella. Everyone knows how hard it is to stay beautifully rouged and powdered during the sort of weather we have had all spring.

The new umbrella contains all the make-up makings the most fashionable woman requires, with a full sized mirror as well, all packed neatly beneath the surface of the tooled leather handle.

Furthermore, it dispenses with necessity for a handbag entirely, since besides the essentials of the complexion, it also provides a small compartment for small change and even a bill or so, if it is compactly rolled.

ACTION ON CHARGES AGAINST SHERIFF ASKED

COLUMBUS.—Congregations of a dozen or more Protestant Columbus churches today had before them resolutions distributed yesterday asking Governor Donahue to take action before July 1 on charges of malfeasance in office filed against Sheriff Frank L. Holycross of Franklin-co.

The resolution declared that if such charges are true and can be sustained by the evidence the sheriff should be removed at once and if not true he should be exonerated.

The charges were filed with the governor a short time before Holycross was tried in common pleas court here on a charge of receiving a bribe in a liquor case. The jury agreed.

Sheriff L. Holycross in a statement today said the resolution was "just another unfair move on the part of those who have always been antagonistic to me."

GIN HERE TODAY

Newhall, August 26, 1923.—After being buried, he had his violinist play him "Paul Sarichet," Isham's and Peter's wife, who urged him to go to Berlin. He told his wife he was distressed, giving Larson his sea-horn launch hits rocks. Larson is buried at Newhall's sea. His wife goes to change his appearance, and Isham goes to Alaska. Peter's body. They do not stay in their home, but strand him a message from Dorothy Belles to be from him to accept Isham's proposal. They are married, and she gives him a new name. Paul Sarichet is the scene.

ON WITH THIS STORY knew I was here. Of he squaw described me, guessed who it was?" You know I wouldn't do if I'd known that, if it was you. I don't know I came—except it was use I couldn't help it—" vivid eyes opened wide lids dropped again. "Out man, you've cooked se and have done all the you can. It is blackmail? hat are you doing here?" I straightened and was living on the other Peninsula. You knew a few nights ago—I one call me—some one to come here—" good ears to hear Peninsula?"

'I expect you to understand that means you share my past, too. It will go hard at first, and you will be bitter; but I want you to put it out of your mind. You've got to be my partner now, even in my evil deeds. Dorothy, I want you to respect, rather than scorn that quality of unconquerable purpose in me that won't let me forego the things that I want; and particularly I want to remember that it was all for you. The thing is closed and one part of the dead past; and I want you to put it out of your mind."

The girl straightened and sighed. "I wish you'd go away," she said dully. "I can't forget it, and never can, and I can't forgive it. Everything is over between us. Now let me go—I'm going into my tent."

His hand pressed more tightly at her shoulders, and he looked meaningfully into her eyes. "Into our tent," he corrected easily.

The girl shook her head; but her expression did not change. "No, I renounce our marriage. My door is closed to you forever!" At this point her slim body straightened, and her voice—the did not increase in volume—took on a husky, unmistakable tone of emphasis. "Understand everything clearly, Ivan, now as well as later. I don't consider myself your wife from now on. I'm going to my tent—you must go to yours. Your hands have no longer any right to hold me. Tomorrow the guides and I will go away in the dory, in search for the settlements. If you want to come you may, but it won't be as my husband, and you must never appear in the United States again. You've asked me to choose between my husband's honor and you, my husband's murderer. I don't see how you can wonder at my answer. When I get home, I will tell the whole truth and try to clear Peter's name, and take the smirch off his memory."

At this point she paused, faltering; and for one brief instant she did not know the cause of the sudden wind of terror that blew through her being, closing her throat and choking back her brave words. In that instant Ivan's attitude had changed. Outwardly there was little sign; possibly certain lines deepened or his white face and his vivid eyes looked dull red, like glowing, dying coals under fine brows. A wan smile, determined rather than cruel, curled at his lips.

It was not that he had misinterpreted her words. He was not such a fool as to think this merely a burst of temporary indignation soon to pass away. Dorothy had meant exactly what she said. Yet her opposition only made her more desirable to him, heightened the fire of his madness. His strong arms went about her, and he pressed his lips to hers.

Pavlo, who watched from the mouth of the dugout, grunted softly, as if in reflection of his master's passion. Pete made one uneasy move in the shadows, but he was not yet sure of his course, and preparations were not yet complete, so he paused, waiting for what might befall. Dorothy struggled in a sudden frenzy of hate and scorn, as if the kiss had ravished her integrity. For a single instant Ivan held her helpless—just long enough to show her he was her master—then he let her go.

"Oh!" she breathed. "You wouldn't dare!"

She halted because she was afraid to go on. Ivan was fully awakened now. He was shaking off the last vestiges of his conventionalism as a dog shakes off water, and with it went the veneer that western civilization

An Intimate Story of Innocent Emotions Revealed in Private Letters

LETTER FROM BEATRICE GRIMSHAW TO SALLY ATHERTON

Sometimes, Sally dear, I think you are the most sympathetic woman on earth; and then again you say something which makes me think you hard as nails. One thing I will say for you, however—"age cannot wither nor custom stale your infinite variety!"

I wonder if having to earn one's living has anything to do with making one hard. If it does I think perhaps that far-famed economic independence of which we hear and read so much about does not make for the greatest happiness of a woman.

I think, Sally dear, we will have to live many, many centuries before we get that peculiar faculty which now is purely masculine of dissipulating hurts, griefs, joys, love and saying: "That's that!" I for one do not want to get over that peculiarly sensitive feeling that belongs to women. I'd rather grieve a lot than be incapable of grief. In fact, I think one of the greatest sorrows I ever had was when I thought I was not being sorry any more because Dick had left me.

You say you were not at all happy with Sam, and in one of your letters you more than intimated that you were glad that he was out of your life. Have you been any happier without him, Sally dear? I'd really like to know.

You had a good deal to say about Dick, my dear, when you answered my letter, but you did not answer my question which was, does a woman ever regain trust in a man after she has once been disillusioned? Personally, after this episode with Dick, I have come to the conclusion that something goes out of one's life with every illusion that is shattered, and a hardness comes in which, while it may make for independence of thought and action, never makes for great, great happiness.

I shall be over to see you, however, Sally dear, very soon. I am very anxious to tell you face to face what I think of you if you become interested in you. If he was anybody but Leslie's husband I wouldn't mind so much, but Leslie, as you say, is one of the sweetest girls I have ever known, and I know she cares very much for that good-looking husband of hers. In my heart I am quite sure she has forgiven him much, although there has been some intimation of it to me—and because some of her illusions in regarding her husband have been smashed, I am not so sure but that some of that sadness that one sometimes sees in her face has come into their place. But I am afraid she would not forgive him a second time, so don't bother any more of her illusions.

I met Sydney Carton at the wedding, and I liked him very much indeed. He is not good-looking as Jack Prescott, and I don't think he's as egotistical.

He seemed to admire Leslie very much, even then, but I think he's the kind of a man that even if he cared for his friend's wife, would keep it to himself.

How perfectly foolish for you and me to go on conjecturing things like this. From letters that Leslie has been writing me she seems very happy, but we will talk it over when I see you, which I hope will be very soon.

Affectionately,

BEE.

BRYAN AND ANGOLA STILL CONTINUE WINNING GAMES

Lima Gets on Big End of Score With Wapak

(By GILSON WRIGHT)

After losing to Angola Saturday, the Lima Independents staged a comeback Sunday afternoon at Murphy-st park by decisively winning over the Wapakoneta Reds in an Ohio-Indiana league game.

The score was 6 to 3. Lima's big inning was the fourth, when three hits, two bases on balls, two fielder's choices and an error gave the local team five runs and a lead that Wapakoneta was powerless to overcome.

Wapakoneta outhit Lima 12 to 8, but Fish kept the hits well scattered. Wapak hit at least once in every inning, and in the sixth bunched three for two runs, but with men on bases. Fish tightened up and backed with姊妹 support kept the Auglaize-co. team from scoring any great number of runs. At least three of the Wapak hits were of the scratch variety, in each instance the ball having taken a wicked hop in the grass infield and prevented proper fielding of it. Only a few of the visitors' hits were slammed into the outfield.

Not a Lima man made an error. Malony let two go thru him, but they failed to take the proper bounce and were both scored as hits. On one occasion, the ball bounded in the conventional manner until a few feet from the third baseman and then it decided to roll under his outstretched hand. Another time the ball hopped over Malony's head. Wapak made two errors, but both were on rather difficult chances. Ellison, shortstop, after getting his hands on Gablerach's fast bouncer in the fourth, let the ball get away from him, while Dickey, at second, made a nice stop of Sykes' grounder near the bag in the second but failed to hold it.

SOME FINE CATCHES

Some very nice catches were turned in during the game. Costello pulled a most sensational catch of Dickey's long fly in the sixth, which, if it had gone safe, would have been at least a three-base hit for the Wapakoneta player. The ball was driven far back in the territory between left and centerfield, and with the impact of the bat Costello started for the flying sphere. He captured it after a long run and a leaping, one-hand catch. The fans were not backward in appreciation of the play and Costello was roundly applauded when he made the catch and when he trotted in from the field.

Malony played a fairly good game at third, partly stoning for his three errors. Saturday against Angola, in the fifth he caught Houtz' foul wily over the short fence in front of the bleachers for the third out after Shellenberger had taken Ellison's foul fly near the grandstand. Ahsire made a nice running catch of Malony's fly back of shortstop in the fifth, while Wise stated a fast double play in the third when he took Houtz' hot grounder, dashed to second to get Ellison and then threw to Sykes, killing Houtz.

ANGOLA GETS FIRST RUN

Costello scored from second base in the third inning with the first run of the game when Sean dropped a Texas leaguer in centerfield. Costello had previously singled and stolen second. In the fourth the Lima speed merchant scored when he and Poorman pulled a successful double steal.

May, Wapakoneta catcher, batted a thousand percent with four hits in as many times at bat. Two of them were scratches, however. Faust got two singles and a double, while Dickey had a double and single and was robbed of a triple or possible home run by Costello's sensational catch. Shellenberger was the only local player to gather in more than one hit. He had a single and double in four times at bat.

Abbott had plenty of stuff on the ball and struck out seven Lima men, but he could not put the ball where he wanted it. He walked five men while Fish, who had masterly control, gave but one free pass to all.

AN IDEAL DAY

The day was ideal for baseball and nearly 1,200 Lima fans and 400 Wapakoneta backers saw the contest. It was the first Sunday this year that Lima played a game. Before the contest the Wapak band led the players of both teams to the centerfield fence where the American flag was raised to the accompaniment of "My Country 'Tis of Thee."

Manager Halloran of the local team was determined to win the contest at all odds. He had three extra hurlers and one catcher on the bench. The pitchers were Eli Main, regular hurler, Root, of Dayton, and "Dave" Westbay, local man. McNamara was the extra receiver.

The score:

Sportsmen Going In for Great Time

The Indian Lake Fish and Game association, in conjunction with the League of Ohio sportsmen, as well as the Logan to Fish and Game Protective Association, held a grand all day outdoor picnic at Russell's Point, Wednesday June 25. The affair is taking on proportions. The Allen county organization will attend a body numbering about 300 members. The association offers valuable prizes, for winners in trap-shooting, bait-casting, ladies' boat racing, ladies' swimming contests, running races, horseshoe-pitching, men's boat racing, men's swimming and children's contests. It promises to be a day of real unadulterated pleasure, and the members are looking forward to the event with keen anticipation.

ALEXANDER TELLS YOUNGSTERS HOW TO PITCH

BY GROVER C. ALEXANDER

Famous Pitcher, Chicago Cubs.

The successful pitcher combines the head with the arm.

The pitcher who has had every natural ability, but doesn't use his head, can't hope to get very far.

The great batters are constantly trying to outmaneuver the pitcher. The only weapon the pitcher has is to play their game, try to outguess them.

The pitcher with good arm should seek to conserve it. In the spring he should gradually work it into shape. Go slow on spring enthusiasm, save the old arm for the warm weather.

Once the arm is in shape, it is up to the pitcher to try to keep it that way by giving it every attention.

The wise pitcher conserves his strength, always tries to have something in reserve. He doesn't put all his stuff on every ball pitched. Such a system soon wears him out. Rather, he works hardest in the pitch, only.

NEVER TOO OLD TO LEARN

Say little but listen and see much, is my choice bit of advice to every pitcher, regardless of whether he is only an amateur, a promising minor leaguer or a star in the big show.

Always listen to advice from an older pitcher. One can always learn something about the art of pitching. I find it so each year.

I feel that my greatest asset as a pitcher is control. What success I have had in baseball I attribute more to that one thing than all others combined.

Every pitcher should work for control. No matter how much stuff a pitcher may have it avails him nothing if he can't get the ball over.

The greatest mistake most pitchers make is warming up. With many pitchers it is merely playing catch, the loosening up of the muscles. No effort is made to concentrate on their pitching.

HOW TO DEVELOP CONTROL

When warming up to start a game I make an effort to put some thought back of every ball I throw.

Figuring the batter is weak on a fast ball inside, letter high, I try to throw several balls at an imaginary spot, conforming with the batter's weakness.

Then I try to keep the next four or five balls low and on the outside, on the theory that the next imaginary batsman doesn't like that style of pitching.

Then I switch to the curve ball or slow one, figuring the batsman is weak on such deliveries.

Don't let errors worry you, destroy your poise. Never criticize a fellow player. Just remember the player who has erred feels even worse than you do about it.

To sum up my career in the big league as a pitcher, I would say that the success that has been kind enough to come my way has been due to a willingness to work hard, listen to advice, and observe carefully the way the star pitchers work.

The pitcher should never forget

LONG LIST OF NOTABLE ATHLETES

It has been a long while since the middle west produced such a galaxy of notable hurdlers as showed their wares on the cinders this season.

Big Ten universities boasted such chaps as Brookins and Crawford, Iowa; Kinsey and Johnson, Illinois; Snyder and Guthrie, Ohio State, and Hubbard and Loomis, Michigan.

Here were eight timber-toppers who could cover the barriers in close to record time. Then there was Keeble, Missouri star, another real steeple chaser.

In Brokins, Iowa had the best low hurdler yet developed in the west. The Hawk is the present holders of the world's record for the event—23 1/5 seconds. He hung up that mark in 1923, breaking the old record established by Kraenzlein in 1898. Brokins is also a good quarter-miler, and has gone the distance in 50 flat.

Crawford, a team mate, is a high hurdler, who confines his activities to the 120 yard event. In the season just closed he has won many points.

Kinsey, Illinois, was the best high hurdle performer in the middle west this campaign. From the ranks of the unknown, Kinsey stepped into the limelight to defeat the great Johnson, a team mate, who in 1923 was considered a world beater.

Snyder and Guthrie, Ohio State, were both stellar men. The former coped the high hurdles at the Penn Relay games, but could only place third in the Western conference meet. Guthrie placed in the low barriers.

Hubbard and Loomis made a great pair for Michigan. Hubbard runs the 120 yard barriers and Loomis the furlong event. Hubbard, while ranking with Johnson and Snyder, was kept out of the big Ten hurdles, being used in the 100 yard dash instead. And in that event, to the surprise of the experts, the colored boy ran off with first place in 9 4-5 seconds.

Keeble, pupil of the famous Bob Simpson, world's champion high hurdler, also had an excellent season and with a bit more experience is apt to make all hustle. The high hurdles are his specialty.

Midwestern sport has developed some great timber-toppers in the past, but this has been its most bountiful season.

Interest Is Growing In Twilight

Brennan — Miske Ended Careers In Same Ring

NEW YORK—Fate plays many queer pranks! In November, 1923, Billy Miske fought his last pugilistic battle. His opponent was "Big Bill" Brennan, heavyweight "trial horse." Miske won in the fourth round by a koyao. Coincidentally, it was also the final bout for Brennan.

Miske died January 1 and Brennan passed on the other morning, the victim of a gun-man's bullet. Thus, the two combatants, who finished their ring careers at the same time, went to their final reward within a few months of each other.

In the ring, the efforts of Miske and Brennan ran along somewhat similar lines. Each was more or less of a stepping-stone for others, a rung on the pugilistic ladder. Both fought practically all the big fellows, but neither was able to hurdle the last obstacle to the championship ship.

Each battled Dempsey a couple of times. Back in 1918, when Dempsey started his stellar march to the topmost rung, Miske and Brennan were both hurled against the hard-hitting Jack-to-test, his mettle. And both were beaten.

Again, after Dempsey had won the crown, by bowing over Willard at Toledo in 1919, Miske and Brennan were given another chance at Jack. Miske went down in short order at Benton Harbor while Brennan, after holding the champion fairly even for 11 rounds, succumbed in the 12th.

COOLIDGE CONFERS WITH PARTY CHIEFS ON CRUISE

WASHINGTON — President Coolidge's discussion of the political campaign with Republican leaders during a week-end cruise on the presidential yacht Mayflower is said to have been only of a general nature and to have resulted in no important decisions or definite plans. William M. Butler, chairman of the Republican national committee, brought this word to Washington after leaving the yacht last night in company with the other of the president's guests at Chapel Point, Maryland, and mooring here. The president and his family remained aboard to return to Washington from a cruise in the lower Potomac river.

Other members of the party were Charles B. Warren, ambassador to Mexico and chairman of the resolutions committee at the Cleveland convention; Charles B. Hiles, national committeeman from New York, and J. H. Harbach, national committeeman from Connecticut. Mr. Warren is en route to Mexico City today to resume his duties there.

TELEPHONES ON INCREASE

CITY RANKS HIGHER THAN STATE IN AVERAGES

Increase in telephone installations in Lima is progressing at a more rapid rate than in any other portion of the state, figures released Monday indicated. New installations in Lima for 1923 were $11 while for the whole state a total of 46,000 new subscribers were added. This makes the total for Lima 13,635 and the state 849,293, public utilities commission figures show.

Investment by telephone companies increased $6,355,201.56 during the year throughout the state making the total investment now slightly more than $139,711,390, figures show.

PLAYGROUND TEAMS TO GET START WEDNESDAY

Baseball leagues at the Faurot park playgrounds will play their first games Wednesday, Fred Wallace, supervisor of Lima playgrounds, announces.

From present indications there will be six teams in each of the three loops, he says. In the Midget League games will be played in the morning; in the afternoon the teams of the Junior league will compete, while at 5 p. m. the Twilight league teams will play.

The winning team in each league will be given a loving cup.

Wallace will make out a schedule on Monday and will work Tuesday in getting the teams ready for the first games.

Purchase a bottle of Syrup Peppermint at a drug store and always keep one in the family medicine chest.

Give it to anyone from infant to grandparent, for it is safe, and the cost is less than a cent a dose. You can keep a family healthy with just this simple medicine.

It may be difficult to decide just what medicine to use out of the many that are offered, but it would not be if you knew the facts.

There are laxatives, cathartics, purgatives and pharyns, and they vary in their reaction on the system. Naturally, the stronger the medicine the more it shocks the system, so wise parents never give anything but a laxative to children.

PUROL CURVE OF PERFORMANCE IN YOUR MOTOR

What gas ought to give—and what this efficient gas does give:

power plus—yet saves 30%

Ten years' engineering tests prove this

Check up on the performance of your motor—and on the yearly cost of gasoline. For here are new facts, brought out by 2 years of engineering tests.

PUROL has been proved to save 30% of yearly gasoline costs. Two years of tests—made on 38 different cars—prove:

That PUROL gives 3.3% greater mileage. That PUROL burns cleanly—saving 14.2% of gas that usually drips down into crank-case. In this way it saves $2.98 a year in lubricating oil.

And through the greater efficiency of oil undiluted, it saves $10.33 a year (average) in general repairs.

The average car consumes 500 gallons of gas a year. So the first two PUROL savings—8½ gallons at 20¢—total $17.50. All four show a total yearly saving of $30.81. That is 30% of the gasoline cost for the average car.

Test PUROL power today

Drive for just a few miles and you will see how PUROL performance adds to the responsiveness of your motor. Use it for a year and you will see how it also saves 30% of what you ordinarily spend for gas.

Make a test today. You can get PUROL at any Pure Oil Service Station, or of any Pure Oil dealer. You'll know them by the pumps painted "Pure Oil blue."

Wherever or whenever you buy PUROL, you will find its performance unvaryingly the same. Greater power with greater economy!
